LET FOUR SEASONS RESORTS LĀNAʻI
SET THE STAGE FOR ROMANCE THIS FEBRUARY

LĀNAʻI, HAWAII (January 6, 2015) – Where better to enjoy a romantic tête-à-tête than your own 90,000-acre secluded Hawaiian island? Lānaʻi is the perfect setting for romance all year long, though traveling lovebirds may want to partake in a culinary feast for the senses this February, with a new dining experience at Four Seasons Resort Lānaʻi at Manele Bay.

If true seclusion is the goal, why not travel against the romantic tide - throughout the entire month of February the luxury Hawaiʻi hotel will offer a night of romance and indulgence with our Valentine's Blind Tasting Menu. Chef Marcus Stewart of ONE FORTY American Steak, Hawaiian Seafood will source fresh, local ingredients to create five courses showcasing foods made for amour - from known aphrodisiacs such as lobster, oyster, caviar to naturally red foods.

Each course will be paired with prestigious champagnes including Dom Perignon, Veuve Clicquot, Krug, Ruinart and Louis Roederer Cristal - a perfect pairing as champagne marries well with a vast array of flavors and is known to carry aromatic compounds in each bubble, contributing to the overall sensory experience. The five-course meal inclusive of wine pairing will be offered at $345 per person.

For those seeking the ultimate in privacy, why not book a table for two under the stars? Your dining experience begins as you and your guest are escorted to a secluded ocean front location, complete with dazzling sunset views overlooking Hulopoʻe Bay, deemed one of the most beautiful beaches in Hawaiʻi. Enjoy a personalized five-course menu and wine pairing created for you both following a consultation with Chef the day prior. Watch the evening stars over dessert and coffee –there's no rush, the table is yours for the evening. The Dining Under the Stars experience begins at $995 per couple.*

To round out your romantic escapade, these activities on Lānaʻi are custom-made for two.

- Hike up to Pu‘u Pehe (Sweetheart Rock) next to Hulopo‘e Bay at sunrise. Legend has it that Pehe, the wife of a Lāna‘i warrior, died. Heartbroken, her husband buried her at the top of Pu‘u Pehe then jumped from the 80-foot summit to the surf below, unable to bear his sorrow.
- Sail away into the Hawaiian sunset for a journey filled with romance. Trilogy Excursion’s 51-foot sailing catamaran will carry couples across the waters as the sun dips into the ocean - light appetizers, cocktails and more make for a most memorable evening.
- Why not create a lasting memory of a romantic getaway by crafting a bespoke fragrance? Mélanguer Jaana Roth of the Spa at Manele Bay guides couples to design a made-to-measure perfume. The demi-blends are by Ajne, a boutique perfumer featuring natural fragrances favored by many in the Hollywood set. His and hers or a blend built for two, the scent will evoke a romantic holiday long after the plane has landed.
- Nine and Wine - Head out to the Manele Golf Course after 3:00pm for back nine. Grab a putter or go along for the ride and check out the most scenic (we think!) nine holes in the world. Then, make your way to VIEWS and catch the sunset while enjoying a bottle of wine, light snacks and the amazing views of Pu‘u Pehe and Hulopo'e Bay.
- Jump in a 4x4 and head to Halepalaoa Beach on the eastern side of the island. Named for the whales that once washed ashore there, this golden sandy beach is a quiet place to relax, sunbathe and swim – often with nary another beachcomber in sight! Pack a picnic and enjoy a day together lounging in secluded bliss. The ruins of the old Maunalei Sugar Plantation wharf are nearby for a bit of sightseeing before heading back to civilization.
- Capture the moment in canvas and commission a sketch or painting by local artist Mike Carroll. Mike moved from Chicago to Lāna‘i to pursue his life-long passion for art and nature and his original oil paintings and prints celebrate Hawai‘i. Couples can share a favorite romantic spot or send in a photo to commemorate their visit and take home a unique remembrance of a special time together.

The luxury resort recently unveiled a lobby-to-roof, multi-million dollar transformation introducing an exclusive airport lounge in the Honolulu International Airport, new restaurants including NOBU LANAI, high-end retail boutiques featuring top luxury brands, a renovated Spa and public areas, and newly redesigned guestrooms rich in bespoke furnishings. The new contemporary décor reflects the tones and textures of the island and adds a Hawaiian aesthetic, featuring rich colors from the earth, sand and brush as well as thoughtfully curated artwork from across Polynesia, Micronesia and Hawai‘i. Garden View luxury rooms are from $1,000 per night; suites start at $1,950 per night.

Four Seasons Resort Lāna‘i at Manele Bay is located on a pristine island a few miles west of Maui reflecting a simpler pace of life and the spirit of old Hawai‘i. Guests can enjoy an exclusive island getaway offering unique cultural adventures, myriad water and land activities and world-class tennis and golf.
